Mafia Figures Raise $1.3 Million In Bail

NEW YORK (AP) — Thirteen Cosa Nostra figures, warned not to stray far after their release in $1.3-million bail, have the weekend to decide what they will tell a grand jury delving into their crime syndicate activities.

The 13, representing Mafia control points around the country, are to be questioned by a Queens County panel Monday on the current distribution of syndicate power and changes within its hierarchy.

The grand jury heard two witnesses Friday, one of them the owner of the Forest Hills, Queens, restaurant where police found the Mafia's meeting Thursday at a steak and lasagna banquet table. The identity of the second witness was not disclosed.

Chief Inspector Sanford Garelik, who directed the raid, said it was apparent from the importance of the 13 and the distances

Committee Drops Its Un-American Activities Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Committee on Un-American Activities apparently has abandoned, at least for this session, a bill stemming from its six-month investigation into alleged Ku Klux Klan terrorism.

Disagreement among committee members over the broad-ranging measure's constitutionality is the chief reason for the committee's failure to act so far on the bill.

Some members also contend that hearings on the legislation, during which most witnesses testified, were too brief and inconclusive to support a favorable committee report.

While there is some talk among staff members of committee action, members consider it extremely unlikely.

The legislation, titled the "Organizational Control Act of 1966" was directed generally at clandestine organizations which engage in criminal conspiracies.

Senators Term Johnson's War Estimate Low

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senators who work on money bills described as conservative today an estimate attributed to President Johnson of a $10 billion increase in Viet Nam war spending.

Gov. William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania, one of seven governors who conferred with the President Friday on spending problems, reported that he spoke of the war expenditures rising at least $10 billion "over this present year."

But Sen. Allen J. Ellender, D-La., a veteran Appropriations Committee member, told a reporter, "I think the cost of the war is increasing much more than $10 billion on an annual basis."

And Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., Appropriations Committee member and chairman of the Preparedness subcommittee, said he believed the war cost now was running at a $2 billion a month level.

Still another Appropriations committee member, Sen. Clifford P. Case, R-N.J., estimated cost of the war at $25 billion to $30 billion a year. In a television interview recorded for broadcast over WNDT-TV in New York City, Case said the President was neither telling the public what the conflict is costing nor announcing an adequate plan for financing it.

Pere Marquette Tercentenary Plans Broached

DETROIT (AP) — Three hundred years ago, Father Jacques Marquette was leaving France as a missionary to the New World.

Now, a group is planning to celebrate the anniversary of the famous explorer's travels through the Great Lakes and Mississippi River territories.

Members of a tercentenary commission appointed by President Johnson announced Friday some of their proposals to honor the Jesuit priest who was the first white man to explore the Mississippi Valley.

Among their proposals for the tercentenary period from 1968 to 1973 are:

- Renaming the International Bridge at Sault Ste. Marie as the Father Jacques Marquette Bridge. The project would require Canadian approval.
- Establishment of a tourist route of the Marquette Trail, marking the explorer's 4,000-mile trek from Quebec through the Great Lakes states and into the Mississippi Valley in 1673.
- Issuance of memorial stamps and medallions.
- Commissioning composer Roy Harris to create a Marquette Memorial Symphony.
- Establishment of state commissions and memorial parks in the nine states explored by Fr. Marquette.
- Erection of a national memorial at St. Ignace where Fr. Marquette was buried.

The plans were outlined by Theodore Rosenak, executive vice president of Pabst Brewing Co. J. C. Windham, president of

Embassy Burns In Congo Riot

KINSHASA, Congo (AP) — A screaming mob of 200 Congolese sacked and burned the Portuguese Embassy here today.

Most of the rioters fled as police converged on the burning three-story building. Papers, passports and photos smoldered on the floor of the consular section. Two cars parked outside the embassy were burned.

Rioters did not touch the American Embassy next door.

The Portuguese charge d'affaires, a male embassy secretary and a female stenographer were taken from the embassy and severely beaten, eyewitnesses said. They have since disappeared and are feared kidnapped.

Police carrying sub-machine guns held back a crowd of about 1,000 persons who jammed the tree-shaded street which passes the embassies in Kinshasa, formerly Leopoldville.

The mob started by rushing the building and tossing gasoline over a small Portuguese auto. Then they broke through the heavy iron doors and stormed the upper floors.

Bombers Pound Storage Areas In N Viet Nam

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Waves of U.S. B52 bombers raided North Viet Nam today for the third time in four days.

The huge bombers, flying above the weather, struck again in the southern end of North Viet Nam just a few miles north of the demilitarized zone.

The bombers hit Communist infiltration routes, truck parks and storage depots.

Smaller U.S. tactical bombers gave the once-demilitarized zone between North and South Viet Nam a going over, pounding seven North Vietnamese storage areas in the zone.

In South Viet Nam, ground fighting was small and scattered.

The crack South Korean Tiger Division ended a six-month operation and promptly launched a new one. Simultaneously, Australian troops terminated their current operation and the U.S. command announced that the recently arrived 198th Light Infantry was in action for the first time.

The U.S. command said the total number of U.S. planes lost over North Viet Nam, as of Friday, was 345.

A spokesman said 123 U.S. planes have been lost in action over South Viet Nam.

The B52 raids today marked the fifth time in the war that the eight-engine jet intercontinental bombers have raided North Viet Nam. Two of these raids were made last April against the Mu Gia Pass and the other three were made within the last four days.

Inside the demilitarized zone—the once-neutral buffer area that is now a battleground—U.S. Air Force Skyraiders and Canberra bombers struck at seven target areas Friday. Pilots reported destroying six structures, and setting fire to a fuel depot and seven piles of military supplies.

Johnson Family Has Reunion In Hills Of Texas

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson and his family staged a hug-and-kisses reunion at the LBJ Ranch, then welcomed to the fold a young Marine just back from Viet Nam.

The occasion was a lawn party Friday to salute 250 neighborhood women who have served as tour guides at the President's boyhood home and his reconstructed birthplace.

Mrs. Johnson had just flown in from New Mexico and the President from Washington. Luci and Nugent had driven from their new home in Austin, 70 miles away.

They welcomed some special guests to the ranch — Nugent's brother, Marine Lt. Gerard P. Nugent, and his wife Phyllis.

Williams Called Problem Maker By Sen. Griffin

By The Associated Press
Sen. Robert P. Griffin, R-Mich., said Friday his Democratic opponent for the U. S. Senate, G. Mennen Williams, is planning "a very negative and extensive television campaign to paint me as some kind of villain."

Griffin spoke to a closing meeting of the annual convention of the Michigan Federation of Republican Women's Clubs at Kalamazoo.

"If Mr. Williams wants to attack my record, why doesn't he agree to debate me?" Griffin said.

"If my opponent continues his refusals to debate on TV, I believe he should spend his money and time on a positive campaign telling the people where he stands on issues and what he would do on problems," Griffin said.

Referring to the former six-term Michigan governor, Griffin said "The people shouldn't send the No. 1 problem maker to (Washington) to help the No. 1 problem solver, Gov. George Romney."

Williams Friday announced plans for a flying campaign trip to Saginaw and St. Clair counties next Tuesday.

Williams spent today at his home, doing campaign work. He planned to attend a dance to-night honoring Democratic gubernatorial candidate Zolton Ferency at a United Auto Workers hall in Windsor, Oakland County.

Ferency and Williams attended a party Friday night given by the Dearborn Federation of Teachers.

Romney and Griffin planned to campaign together today in the Detroit area, starting at Detroit's Eastern Market.

Munsinger Report Scores Diefenbaker

OTTAWA (AP) — Former Canadian Prime Minister John G. Diefenbaker, accused of putting personal judgment ahead of national security in the Munsinger sex-and-security case, has charged that Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson did the same thing in an earlier security case.

The accusation against Diefenbaker, 71-year-old Conservative leader, was made Friday by Supreme Court Judge Wishart Spence in his report on the government-ordered hearings into the 1960 scandal.

The judge said Diefenbaker should have fired his then associate defense minister, Pierre Seigny, who had a liaison with Gerda Munsinger, a one-time self-admitted Soviet espionage agent.

He said the liaison created a security risk and made Seigny vulnerable to pressure from foreign agents or the Montreal underworld, where the affair was common knowledge and "known to Mrs. Munsinger's fellow prostitutes."

Diefenbaker, who was in Boston, Mass., when the report was issued, charged it was "simply a political hatchet job from start to finish." He added that in an earlier security case Pearson did not put national security first.

As foreign secretary in charge of diplomatic service in 1951, Pearson accepted responsibility for keeping Herbert Norman in his department after a security check revealed Norman had had Communist associations in the 1930s.

In 1957 Pearson acknowledged Norman's prior Communist associations, but said he had abandoned them voluntarily by 1959 when he joined the Foreign Affairs department.

Norman committed suicide April 4, 1957, while serving as Canadian ambassador to Egypt, after a U.S. Senate committee revived charges of communism against him. The case led to an exchange of harsh words between the United States and Canada. Louis St. Laurent was Canadian prime minister at the time.

Intensify Hunt In Percy Case

KENILWORTH, Ill. (AP) — Efforts to come up with a solid lead in the murder of Valerie Percy intensified today as Police Chief Robert Daley asked for more investigators to help check out the many tips pouring into his office.

Fingerprints found in the Percy home, a bayonet — termed by Daley as the "possible" murder weapon — and the results of a lie detector test were being studied by the Chicago Crime Laboratory.

Earlier, a Chicago police crime laboratory technician said the bayonet, with a 10-inch blade and a 4-inch handle produced no physical evidence linking the bayonet to the crime.

However, Capt. Daniel Dragel, head of the crime laboratory which is working with Kenilworth police and other agencies, said that he expected that examination of all physical evidence in the case would be completed by Wednesday. He said a complete report would be issued by the laboratory at that time.

"I'm going to ask for help from a great number of sources," Daley said Friday night at a news conference. "We're calling in more help so we can cut down the hours of the men in the field."

Turbine Power Said Not Ready For Road Cars

DETROIT (AP) — One of Detroit's glamorous automotive dreams made headlines this week while another waited in the wings.

Ford disclosed that it was experimenting with a battery-powered electric car and would test one in England next year.

Ford officials conceded the electric car probably was 10 years away from becoming a reality again on American highways.

Chrysler Corp. appeared, meanwhile, to be in no hurry to market its turbine-powered experimental car, which has been under development in a 12-year program at a cost well over $1 million.

Chrysler, with over 1.3 million miles logged on its fleet of 50 sleek experimental turbine cars, said it was still undecided whether the car had a future on the American highway.

"The turbine we are now using in our latest experimental car is a fifth generation one, a much improved version of the first one we tried in 1954," a Chrysler spokesman said.

The turbine engine, one of whose features is the familiar whoosh sound associated with jet airplane engines has been one of the most discussed programs in the auto industry.

It has less than one-sixth as many parts as a conventional piston engine. It operates when compressed air and fuel are ignited in a combustion chamber. The heated gas is then ducted to turn the vanes of a turbine wheel which provides the vehicle's power.

Chrysler's turbines have run on fuel ranging from perfume to brandy, from white kerosene to alcohol. Chrysler engineers are convinced white kerosene is the best fuel available at this time.

General Motors and Ford have run similar turbine-type engines in large experimental trucks. Both contend the turbine road vehicle will not be practical until the 1970s because much research remains to be done.

New Assault Ship

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Navy plans to develop a new amphibious assault ship designed to carry several transport helicopters and hundreds of troops for air and ground assault missions.

A Navy spokesman declined Friday to estimate the cost of the new craft — but he said it would be capable of carrying significantly more helicopters and troops than the relatively new $37 million LPD's (Landing, Personnel and Dock) which carry six copters and 1,000 marines.

Goldberg Says Hanoi Reaction Is Propaganda

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The United States refused today to give up on its latest peace proposals to North Viet Nam despite Hanoi's assertion that they were a hypocritical cover for military escalation.

U.S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg, who made the proposals in the U.N. General Assembly Thursday, told reporters he did not consider Hanoi's reaction "to be a considered reply. It is public propaganda."

Secretary of State Dean Rusk, meanwhile, was to have a chance to follow up on the proposals privately at a dinner tonight given by Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko. The talks between the two started Thursday when Gromyko was Rusk's dinner guest.

Neither side would say what they meant to discuss, but their subjects seemed likely to include Viet Nam, European security, disarmament, prevention of the spread of nuclear weapons and a treaty for peaceful exploration of outer space.

The meeting was to be the first since Gromyko denounced Goldberg's proposals in the assembly's general debate Friday.

Both Gromyko and Hanoi demanded Friday that the United States stop bombing North Viet Nam and withdraw its troops from South Viet Nam. Hanoi also suggested that the United States discuss a solution directly with the South Vietnamese rebels' National Liberation Front.

Goldberg told the assembly Thursday that, as a first step toward unconditional negotiations, the United States was "prepared to order a cessation of all bombing of North Viet Nam the moment" it got assurance that North Viet Nam would respond by reducing or ending its military activities in South Viet Nam.

He asked if North Viet Nam would respond to such a step and would agree to "a phased withdrawal" of all foreign troops from South Viet Nam, including American and North Vietnamese.

High Interest Changes Saving

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government says high interest rates have brought startling changes in the savings pattern of the American public.

More money is being invested in government and corporate securities and less in cash-type assets, the Securities and Exchange Commission reported Friday.

In the first six months of this year, the commission said, individuals put $3.6 billion into cash-type assets, such as savings deposits, while $8.9 billion went into securities.

These proportions were almost the reverse of the first half of 1965 when $11.5 billion went into cash-type savings and $3.2 billion into securities.

Fears Inflation:

Ruppe Cites Rise In Cost Of Food

Phil Ruppe, Houghton, Republican candidate for congress in the 11th congressional district, spoke Wednesday night to the members of the Bark River-Harris P. T. A.

Ruppe described the need for economic development in the district and cited the Hills Creek Project of the Calumet and Hecla Mining Company as an outstanding development which would bolster the economy of Northern Michigan.

He warned of the danger in the rising cost of living which has gone uncontrolled and unchecked by the President and Congress. Ruppe said that in a typical Northern Michigan Store during the period from 1958 to 1966, the cost of bacon has increased from 49c to $1.09, an increase of 122 per cent, while the cost of pork chops has soared from 39c to 99c, an increase of 154 per cent. Based upon recent price factors, the cost of living is increasing at nearly 5 per cent a year, which is comparable to a 5 per cent increase in the sales tax.

Galloping inflation, said Ruppe, has the effect of wiping out the benefits of salary increases for most of the people and seriously effects the buying power of the elderly and those with low fixed incomes. In many instances this un-

Dr. Van Pelt To Be Honored

HOUGHTON—Michigan Technological University will honor its chancellor, Dr. J. R. Van Pelt and Mrs. Van Pelt, at a retirement dinner Sept. 30.

Dr. Van Pelt, the only alumnus of Michigan Tech to serve as its president, became the University's first chancellor when he retired from the presidency on January 1, 1965.

His administration as president, which began in 1958, includes some of the most noteworthy years in the history of the University. It was during this period that the University grew from Michigan College of Mining and Technology to Michigan Technological University.

Dr. Van Pelt instituted B. S. degree programs in biological sciences, geophysical engineering and medical technology, and M. S. degree programs in business administration, engineering mechanics, mathematics and nuclear engineering. He is also responsible for the institution of doctoral programs in four fields.

Ninety-two per cent of the country's narcotic addicts use heroin.

Measles Vaccine Still Available At Health Dept.

Measles vaccine is still available at the Health Department. While it lasts, children over 12 months and not yet in first grade are eligible, according to Dr. Mary Cretens, director.

Children who have already had the hard red measles or are allergic to eggs or chicken should not be immunized, she said. The child must be in good health at the time of immunization.

Health Department clinics are from 2 to 4 p. m. Friday afternoons at the County Building, Escanaba; 1 to 2 p. m. Wednesday afternoon at the Court House, Menominee, and 10 a. m. fast time, at the Carney School on the first Wednesday of each month.

Delta County will send 37 men, some of them married, for induction into the U.S. Army Oct. 8, announced Mary M. Wagner, clerk of Michigan Local Draft Board 21.

The call is the largest since the Korean War and possibly since World War II, she said. Men will report at 4:30 a.m. to the Selective Service office, 1103 Ludington St. The group will leave by charter bus for the Milwaukee induction center after breakfast at a local restaurant.

Miss Wagner said the group is the first of two groups to leave for Milwaukee in October. A unit of 77 men will leave the following day, Oct. 8, also at 4:30 a.m., for pre-induction examinations. Names of the pre-induction group will be announced later.

The induction group includes men born in 1946 and also married men without children. Miss Wagner said. Leader of the group is Michael B. Kaufman, Gladstone. James S. Ridings, also of Gladstone, was chosen assistant leader.

Commercial Plan: Further Zoning Discussions Set

The City Council is expected to meet with the Planning Commission and its planning consultants in a further discussion of zoning change and related matters at the Council meeting of Oct. 3.

City Manager George Harvey has suggested to the Council that the Council session be started at 7 p.m. (an hour earlier than customary) so the discussion can follow.

The discussions will center on proposals for rezoning areas from residential to commercial uses.

The manager said that on Oct. 3 he is hopeful the Council can "informally sit down with the planning consultants and the Planning Commission to discuss the zoning change as well as other matters that relate to it."

Time Schedule
"Should the Council concur in the recommendations of the Planning Commission that the Zoning Ordinance be amended, we could then give first reading to this change at this (Oct. 3) meeting," Harvey said.

"We must realize that a period of approximately 30 days would be required to meet the rules of the State laws relative to public hearings, which would mean that the final reading and public hearing on this amendment would be the first regular meeting in November."

"It would be at that time, then, that we would be in a position to make a decision on the application of the Walch Development Co. As you know, the recommendation of the Planning Commission on this request was subject to the Council's approval of the Zoning Ordinance amendment," the city manager noted.

Plan Ready Soon
Harvey also advised the Council that the city planning consultants, Harland, Bartholomew & Associates, "will have a Central Business District Plan for presentation to the Planning Commission on Oct. 4, the date for the next regular meeting of the Commission."

"Inasmuch as questions have been asked as to when we can start an Urban Renewal project, Thompson Dyke's specific answer to this question was that application can be made immediately upon agreement of a satisfactory Central Business District Plan," Harvey said.

Dyke is supervisor of the Escanaba planning program for Harland, Bartholomew & Associates.

Appraisers are now completing their field work in the 1100 and 1200 blocks where it is proposed to acquire off-street parking property. The report of the appraisers is expected to be ready about Oct. 15, when they will meet with the Council to answer its questions.

Man, 56, Missing From Danforth Nursing Home

Delta County Sheriff's officers have asked local residents to be on the lookout today for a 56-year-old partially crippled man who walked away from a Danforth nursing home Friday afternoon.

Deputies said Stanley Arntzen, 56, formerly of Gladstone, left the Robinson Nursing home about 2:45 p.m. Friday and has not been seen since. It was first reported that Arntzen had gone berry picking, but further investigation revealed he took shaving equipment with him.

Search of wooded areas near the nursing home which continued until 8:30 p.m. yesterday was called off today, although police patrols have been alerted.

Arntzen, who deputies said walks with a slight twist, has been a resident of the Robinson Nursing Home for the past three years. When he left he was wearing a gray cap, a black nylon jacket, green trousers and black canvas shoes. He is about 5-foot-6 inches tall.

Officers said when last seen he was carrying a paper bag. Anyone with information about Arntzen is asked to call the Sheriff's Dept., ST 6-3633.

Need For New Bridge Told At Board Meeting

The Ford River Township Board met in special session Tuesday evening with residents from the island on Road A-26 regarding posting of weight limits on the bridge to the island.

The bridge almost washed away because of high water last January and the pillars underneath are insecure, therefore a new bridge must be installed.

The method of financing the bridge was discussed and because of the emergency of the situation some of the other road work must be curtailed.

The cost of the bridge will be about $12,000 with 50 percent of the cost to be paid by the County Road Commission.

Plans for the Revenue Bond to improve the Ford River water system are being prepared by Atty. Arthur Neiman and the Northern Michigan Engineers. A meeting will be held in the near future to explain the necessity of the improvement and the method of financing.

WOULD YOU HAVE INVESTED MONEY IN THIS CONTRAPTION?

You have probably heard it said many times, "Sure wish I would have been one of the initial investors in the automobile industry." Yet, back in the early 1900's when Ford and a few others were organizing their companies they literally had to beg people to buy their stock. Many of those who were able to envision the future of the automobile and invested at the beginning made fortunes.

In many respects, the helicopter parallels the automobile. It has been predicted that the helicopter industry will enjoy a similar pattern of growth. As a helicopter manufacturer, the R. J. Enstrom Corporation is part of this dynamic transportation industry.

If you would like to be part of the fast-growing helicopter industry here is your chance to get in on the ground floor. BUY ENSTROM STOCK. Only $12.00 per share. Do it now . . . the offering ends September 30. Send your check to: Enstrom, Menominee, Michigan.

Boom In Copper

"Despite the operations of at least 500 mining companies over a period of 100 years, with allowance for the miles and miles of levels, drifts and stopes worked during this century, only about a tenth of the 150-mile-long copper range has ever been explored underground."

Thus wrote Angus Murdoch in the final paragraph of his book, "Boom Copper," which was published in 1943.

What he said then was borne out by the disclosure last April by Calumet & Hecla that a copper deposit it had discovered at Hills Creek near Calumet might yield as much as 50,000,000 tons of ore. C&H stock had dropped to $27.25 a share. But the day the details of the new discovery were made public it closed at $49.75. The stock exchange suspended trading on C&H shares for six days, and the company retained the Bechtel Corp. to conduct a study of the feasibility of mining the lode.

The Bechtel study contained an estimate that the lode has 70,000,000,000 pounds of copper ore and that C&H could mine the deposit at the rate of 50,000,000 pounds a year.

Directors of C&H then reviewed the Bechtel study and this week approved the Hills Creek project and ordered preparation of engineering, manpower and financing plans.

This is great news for the Copper Country and for the entire Upper Peninsula. It heralds a continuation of the boom in copper mining that began with development of the White Pine Mine.

Copper mining in the Upper Peninsula was on the skids in the early 1950's. Later in that decade iron mining above the Straits also went into a slump brought on largely by foreign ore imports and lack of competitive ores in the Lake Superior district. The entire mining picture in the Upper Peninsula, in short, was bleak.

A breakthrough was made when Copper Range Co. undertook development of the White Pine Mine in Ontonagon County with a Reconstruction Finance Corp. loan. The mine was expanded gradually until it became the biggest copper producer in Michigan and Copper Range became the biggest employer (with about 1,900 workers at the White Pine Mine at present). Copper Range last fall announced it had discovered its reserves in the Upper Peninsula were double the 300,000,000 tons originally estimated, and things in the Copper Country were beginning to suggest the boom days described in Murdoch's book.

Meanwhile, research pointed the way to benefitting low grade iron ores on the Marquette Range and increasing their iron content to the point where they were able to compete with foreign ores. Revisions in the iron ore tax system further spurred the development of iron ore mining and processing in the Upper Peninsula, and a full-scale renaissance in iron mining was under way in this region.

(Development of low grade ore mining also spread to the Menominee Range, but the Gogebic Range thus far has not been shown to be capable of capitalizing on ore beneficiation processes.)

This week's news that Calumet & Hecla is sitting on top of another vast lode is another big stride forward in the resurgence of mining in Upper Michigan, where only a few years ago many had become convinced that the mineral industry soon would be a thing of the past here.

In World War I days, when C&H was booming, Murdoch wrote that "66,000 people lived on the pay checks of one mining corporation"—the same Calumet & Hecla that this week decided to develop a vast new lode.

No one expects C&H ever to hire 66,000 people in its Upper Peninsula mines again, but the Hills Creek project, coupled with the White Pine Mine, foretells a new era of copper mining in the Upper Peninsula which may be marked by a new stability rather than boom and bust.

AUCTIONEER

It is regrettable that one person felt compelled to question the integrity of the Exchange Club members following their recent auction.

We resent the attack upon Col. George Lockard for whom we have the utmost respect. George Lockard is neither hired nor reimbursed for his services. In preparation for the sale, actual auction hours, and time cleaning each evening, well over 80 man hours were donated by the Lockard family. At his own expense, George Lockard placed long distance calls to antique dealers in the U.P., distributed our posters throughout the peninsula and purchased $133.50 worth of auction items for his personal use. This is charity!

Because of the hundreds and hundreds of pieces to be disposed of during the limited time, it was essential that the auctioneer work with great speed. Auction-wise bidders used speed and visible gestures or audible voice raises. Once the hammer sounded, a sale was made and no amount of late raises could take that particular article.

The only "chosen" people in the eyes of George Lockard and the Exchange members are the children at the John F. Kennedy School and the Exchange Club Dental Clinic!

Were the Exchange Club members prohibited from bidding on and purchasing articles during the auction, the net profit picture would be drastically changed. Sixteen club members during the four days purchased and took home a total of $973.20 worth of items for their personal use. The items "stored" for next year's auction consist merely of 23 unsold Xmas tree tops, 7 unsold 1967.

percolator tops, 27 unsold packages of crepe paper, and 12 unsold pressure pan gaskets.

Limited space here prevents additional response, however, any member of the Exchange Club would welcome the opportunity to discuss any further questions.

AUCTION NO. 2
I agree with Mrs. Lusardi, who had an article in the Press Sept. 22 that we should get another auctioneer next year and other years to come.

I have been to several auctions and I have never seen an auctioneer work the way he does. If he doesn't get his price he'll throw it on the floor. As far as I am concerned he should lose his license if he has any at all.

I wrote to the Press after the first auction (8-10-66) but somehow my letter was not printed.

I happen to be a high bidder, (after bidding against Lockard) on a dryer. But Lockard said he would not sell it for that price. There were two dryers at the time but the next week there was only one.

I believe the article should go to the highest bidder, if the article has a price it should be called a rummage sale not an auction.

I also don't believe the auctioneer should have the right to bid against the bidder.

I would also like other people's opinion. But let's try to get a new auctioneer. Thank-you.

Fur Flies In Georgia

By BRUCE BLOSSAT

ATLANTA—(NEA)—Georgia's first Republican governor nominee since 1874, Rep. Howard (Bo) Callaway, is a strong front-runner today, but if former governor Ellis Arnall can win an expected Democratic runoff victory Sept. 28 he may turn this race into a close and extremely bitter battle.

No Georgia political observers think Arnall can be beaten in the runoff by his surprise competitor, segregationist Lester Maddox, who gained minor fame by closing his Atlanta restaurant rather than desegregate it.

But some cautious voices suggest Maddox may poll a big vote, enhanced possibly by Republican crossover voters bent on embarrassing Arnall and by a white backlash reflecting again the recent racial disturbances in Atlanta.

It is assumed that the backlash thrust Maddox into the runoff, even though he was operating with very little money. But the word is that even some ardent anti-Arnall politicians cannot take Maddox seriously. Arnall could pick up heavy support from backers of both the moderate James Carter, state legislator, and conservative James Gray, publisher. These two ran close behind Maddox.

If Arnall wins, he is counted upon to cut loose on Callaway with a savage assault that could easily descend to the personal level. One item sure to be tossed in—Callaway's special trip back to Washington to vote against a minimum wage increase, an event Arnall would set against a backdrop of 50 major roll calls allegedly misused by Callaway.

Other spots considered vulnerable by the Arnall forces include Callaway's inherited fortune and his "hardship" discharge from the Army. He is a West Point graduate who saw some service in Korea as an infantry lieutenant.

Arnall, of course, is the old-time reform Democrat who won the governorship in 1942 by beating Sen. Herman Tamm, Maddox's father. Eugene Tamm says he will support the "party nominee," but no one looks for him to make any real effort for an Arnall candidacy. Sen. Richard Russell, his own re-election assured, probably will not lift a finger in the governorship race.

Some observers find it hard to believe, however, that lesser leaders in Georgia would not pitch in for Arnall. Statehouse control is endangered for the first time in 92 years. And Callaway is plugging for the election of flocks of GOP nominees to state legislative, county and other offices.

At 39, the attractive Callaway is cutting a wide swath with appeals for himself and others. Traveling the state in a red, white and blue "Bo bus," he seems to be putting together a potent coalition of racial and economic conservatives.

Elected to Congress in Barry Goldwater's Georgia sweep in 1964, Callaway is an unabashed Goldwaterite. At a recent evening rally in an Atlanta park, he appeared to be echoing 1964 when he quoted Henry Ford as saying years ago: "You don't cure poverty with charity. You cure it with work."

Callaway promises platform-style specifics after the Democratic runoff. Throughout the early phase of his campaign he has limited himself to extolling individualism, states' rights and local government.

The young millionaire from Pine Mountain, owner today of a lush recreation layout called Callaway Gardens, has built an organizational effort of a sort probably never before seen in the Old South at the governorship level.

The 1964 Goldwater field troops provide the base, but it evidently has been broadened. Callaway people claim 36,000 volunteers. Campaign headquarters walls are alive with charts and maps. A costly computer is drawing voter profiles, and the nominee targets the areas with the richest vote potential. It all has the look of a southern-style Kennedy operation.

Callaway seems to fit the "we can still stop desegregation" mood of many Georgians and other southerners, yet he also has the physical cast of the "new breed." Arnall, by contrast, is reported by pollsters to offer the image of an old-style, liberal-spending liberal. He could be outdated. Nevertheless, he is not likely to be outthought. Therein lies the prospect seen by some that the personable Callaway can be pressed hard and even overturned.

Callaway seems to fit the "we can still stop desegregation" mood of many Georgians and other southerners, yet he also has the physical cast of the "new breed." Arnall, by contrast, is reported by pollsters to offer the image of an old-style, liberal-spending liberal. He could be outdated. Nevertheless, he is not likely to be outthought. 25 YEARS AGO

Clarence E. Zerbel, principal of the junior high school, was awarded a Master of Arts degree from the University of Michigan. He was one of 665 students who completed work at the University's 1941 summer session.

Everything pointed to the largest football crowd of the season for Escanaba when the Vikings of Norway invaded the high school stadium for a game between two of the U. P.'s finest and undefeated teams.

50 YEARS AGO

A motorcycle driven by Warren Rowley of Escanaba, careened into a buggy occupied by Frank Jagers and a young woman friend on the Ford River Road.

The Escanaba high school football team opened the season by trimming the Negaunee high school squad at Negaunee by a score of 19 to 0.

South rises with dummy's queen of spades at trick one but East covers with the king and South wins with the ace.

The simple play at this point is to lay down the ace of trumps. If the king drops South can claim all the tricks. If it doesn't, South will discard his losing spade on one of dummy's high clubs.

The trouble with this line of play is that South will lose his contract if West shows out that first trump lead.

South has an alternate line of play at his disposal that will guard against that bad trump break. He starts by cashing two high clubs in order to get his spade discard. Then he leads a trump from dummy. If East follows with the deuce, South simply plays low from his own hand. If West wins with the king or jack, South will pick up the last trump later on. If West shows out, South will cash his ace of trumps and concede one trick.

If East fails to follow to that trump lead, South takes his ace and leads a second trump toward dummy.

This constitutes a perfect safety play in the trump suit because it guards against the loss of two trump tricks irrespective of how the trumps divide.

It does lose the contract for South if West holds the singleton king or jack of trumps and East is void of diamonds or against 8-0 or 7-1 club breaks, but the chance of one of these bad breaks is much less than the chance of finding East with all three trumps so the trump safety play is preferable.

Finding The Way

By RALPH W. LOEW, D.D.

I've heard about the man who couldn't run in a race but who sprinted across the field with record-breaking speed when chased by the bull.

I've been told about the woman who couldn't swim more than a dog-paddle stroke, who suddenly performed with alacrity when saving a drowning child.

Every disaster or battle produces stories of heroes who thought of themselves as meek and lacking in valor.

All of this emphasizes the psychologist's comment that most of us use only one-tenth of our possible brain or muscle power. When a Grandma Moses becomes a painter at 70, we are aware that this possibility was somehow overlooked throughout the previous 69 years. All too frequently, men enroute a barren existence while just underneath the unpromising landscapes of their own selves are untapped reserves of creative and imaginative usefulness.

This is important to note in considering change. In an age which more and more demands flexibility in thinking and planning there is the requirement of understanding this personal pool of resourcefulness. The tragic growth of numbers of people who depend upon alcohol, drugs and tranquilizers indicates an unwillingness to tackle the problem realistically.

In this exciting age there are all too many residents in our affluent country who wallow in despondency, hide themselves over their own worthlessness and never feel the thrill of "outgrowing the bull."

Flexibility is only one of the requirements of life. There are limits to flexibility. A building ought to have adaptable space but that same edifice also requires some load-bearing walls. Change demands new understanding of those facts of life which are load-bearing.

So St. Paul could insist to the church at Rome that disasters are everywhere. He produced an inventory of dangers that might make you sit in the midst of the field and weep. Yet he was off and running and not because of his own personal energy.

He knew a compulsion that came not from impending disaster but from his own faith. He believed there was a power not just in sprinting for dear life. One could run because there was a power beyond one's self. One could face change because there was a load-bearing wall.

Ohio is an Indian word meaning "great." It was first given to the historic river which borders the state.

Ann Landers Human Nature May Have Claimed Radio

Dear Ann Landers: Please tell a couple of disillusioned teenagers who can a person trust anymore.

My friend and I were walking to town. I saw an 8-transistor radio lying on a curb lawn. It looked nearly new and in pretty good shape so I picked it up. We decided to ring the doorbell and ask if the radio belonged to anyone in the house.

A lady who answered the bell said the radio was not hers but perhaps it belonged next door. We tried next door and the woman there said the radio belonged to her son who was always losing things.

When I got home I told my mother what we had done. She said, "You certainly behaved like fools. Anybody would have claimed the radio whether it was theirs or not. That's human nature."

Please don't get the idea my mother is a crook. She's really a very nice person, but I felt awfully let down after she had made that remark. Is this the way people really are?—DISSA

POINTED
Dear Disa: SOME people are like that, unfortunately, but obviously you aren't, and neither are millions of other decent, honorable folks.

It would have been nice if the lady who claimed the radio had given you and your friend a couple of dollars for your "trouble." Honesty should be encouraged by rewarding those who really believe in it.

Dear Ann Landers: I am 22, married for two years and have a little girl. Both my husband and I work. We each drive our own car. I don't know if the trouble is me, my folks or my car. Anyway, it's getting me down and I need help.

Because I am working I don't have time to do my housework and marketing and many things most women do. My mother helps me a lot. My sister babysits whenever I need her. We are a very close family.

Almost every evening my mother or sister phones and asks me to drive one of them someplace. I usually have to take them home, too. My husband is getting annoyed with these calls and has told me to say no. He says I work all day and should not be expected to drive them around at night. I want to please my husband but I also feel I should help

Dodgers Win Big Pair

Ex-Yankee Aids

By The Associated Press
It wasn't so many years ago that the New York Yankees made an almost annual excursion into the player market around Sept. 1 for some pennant insurance.

The Yankees are buried in the American League cellar this year, but they're still doing business at the same old stand and the Los Angeles Dodgers certainly are glad.

New York wasn't shopping this year, but selling. It was two weeks ago today that the Dodgers purchased veteran utility man Dick Schofield from the Yankees. Los Angeles was in second place, one half game behind when the deal was made.

The Dodgers are first, 2½ games in front today and Schofield is a major reason.

The speedy infielder stroked four hits, drove in three runs and scored three as Los Angeles strengthened its grip on the National League lead with a 4-0, 4-2 sweep over Chicago Friday.

Pittsburgh beat Atlanta 3-0 on Bob Veale's four-hit, but lost a half game to the Dodgers despite the victory.

His four hits Friday gave Schofield 12-for-43 as a Dodger, a .280 pace that is a full 34 points higher than his lifetime major league average.

In other National League games Friday, Cincinnati blanked the New York Mets 7-0 and Philadelphia nipped St. Louis 5-4 in 12 innings.

"I know I can't play in the Series," Schofield said, "but I hope I can help them enough in the next nine games to get them into the Series."

Schofield certainly did his part against the Cubs. In the first game he singled twice, driving in one run and scoring twice as Don Drysdale pitched an eight-hitter.

In the nightcap, he drove in the first two Dodger runs with singles and then was hit by a pitch in the ninth inning just before John Roseboro walked a tie-breaking two-run homer.

Veale won his 15th game, limiting the Braves to four hits. The tall left-hander struck out 12.

The Braves played without Joe Torre and Felipe Alou has been out of action since last Sunday with an injured left hand.

The Reds scored six runs in the first inning against the Mets, and it was more than enough for Jim Maloney, who won his 15th. Maloney pitched a five-hitter and struck out 13. Vada Pinson homered for Cincinnati.

Tony Taylor's bases-loaded single in the 12th inning gave the Phillies their victory over St. Louis. Catcher Jim Schaffer drove in four runs for Philadelphia and pitcher Larry Jaster homered for the Cards.

Blancas 65, was in second place at 134. Don Bies took over third by adding a 66 to his Thursday 69 and Paul Bondeson was fourth at 136.

Patterson may be in line — far back, but in line — for another shot at the world heavyweight championship.

"Maybe Floyd can work his way back to a title shot," champion Cassius Clay said Friday after watching a television tape of Floyd's four-round knockout of Henry Cooper in London Tuesday.

"I'll give Patterson another shot if he keeps winning providing the fans want the fight," Clay said. "But that couldn't happen until around next May."

"I've got to meet Cleveland Williams at Houston in November and then, if everything is all right and I don't hurt my hands, I'll take on Ernie Terrell."

Les (Babe) Wilson, former Rockford prep star, is the leading ground gainer on the Northern Michigan University football squad entering today's game against Bradley. . . . The 177 pound freshman speedster has romped for 119 yards in 19 trips for a 6.2 average per carry. . . . He has also caught two passes for 10 yards and scored one touchdown.

The Michigan High School Athletic Association has announced dates for Upper Peninsula championship meets for the current school year. . . . The locations will be listed later. . . . Dates include the U.P. ski tournament Feb. 18, wrestling March 3 and 4, basketball March 9, 10 and 11, track May 27, golf May 29 and tennis June 9-10.

Rules changes and interpretations will be explained to referees, coaches and any other interested parties at a series of basketball meetings throughout the Upper Peninsula next month, sponsored by the Michigan High School Athletic Association. . . . The meetings will be held at Ishpeming Oct. 24, Houghton Oct. 25, Wakefield Oct. 26, Crystal Falls Oct. 27, Escanaba Oct. 28 and Sault Ste. Marie Nov. 1. . . . Attending the meetings will be a representative of the MHSAA and one or more members of the 1966-67 state basketball rules committee.

Coach John LaPointe, in his first year at the Stephenson football coaching position, is handicapped not only by a lack of experience but size as well this fall. . . . The Eagles, who played Holy Name here last Saturday, haven't got a single 200 pounder on their roster. . . . The 28 players on the squad average out at 148 pounds apiece.

One of the major attractions on the Upper Peninsula high school football menu next Saturday will be played at the Escanaba Athletic Field with Holy Name hosting the Menominee Maroons. . . . Not only will the Great Northern Conference lead be at stake but the game will match two of the top ranked teams in the Upper Peninsula Sportswriters weekly poll. . . . The Crusaders were ranked third and the Maroons sixth in this week's voting. . . . In addition, it will be Holy Name's Homecoming game.

The six touchdown performance turned in by Marinette Central's Paul Sharkey against Menasha St. Mary earned him the title of Associated Press Wisconsin high school "player of the week." . . . Sharkey is a 5 foot 8 inch, 150 pound fullback who ran the 100 yard dash in 10.2 seconds last spring. . . . Although he attends Marinette Central, Sharkey is a resident of Menominee.

Maroons Rip Eagles 45-7

It was strictly no contest as the Maroons slammed over the Eagles 45-7. . . . The Maroons flexed their football muscles in Great Northern Conference action here Friday night and flattened the Stephenson Eagles, 45-7.

Coach Ken Hofer's Maroon gridders clung to Holy Name's heels in the conference race, winning their second straight GNC start. Holy Name has won three in a row.

Bill Jones had a hand in both the Menominee second half touchdowns. He passed to Ken Scharnell for 21 yards in the third quarter and sprinted 24 yards with an intercepted aerial in the fourth.

Stephenson's touchdown came in the final period when Wayne Mulzer picked up a loose pigskin after a blocked field goal attempt and sprinted 82 yards to paydirt. Mulzer passed to Mark Dougovito for the extra point.

The Maroons piled up 397 yards rushing and passing to 125 for Stephenson. The loss was the fourth straight this season for Stephenson while Menominee now has a 3-0-1 record.

The Packers' defense, perhaps the league's toughest inside the 30-yard line, has had trouble before with Roman Gabriel, the Rams' quarterback. Gabriel led the Rams to a 21-10 victory when the teams last met.

Gabriel has completed 62.5 per cent of his passes. The Rams, who finished last season with a 4-10 record, won three of their last four 1965 games and have continued to progress under new coach George Allen.

Minnesota, 0-1-1, while Don Meredith, Bob Hayes and Co. do their Sunday job in Dallas. Baltimore, 1-1, hosts San Francisco, 0-0-1, Sunday with Ray Berry needing only 58 yards to break Bill Howton's mark for most yards gained by pass receptions in a career.

With Chicago idle, the rest of the full Sunday slate has sub Ron Smith quartet backing the Steelers, 1-0-1, against Washington, 0-2, in Pittsburgh; Norm Snead, Tim Brown and NFL rushing leader Lacy Lang of Philadelphia, 1-1, entertaining New York, 0-1-1, and Atlanta, 0-2, looking for its first victory at Detroit, 1-1-1.

Bauer Grooming Barber For World Series Wcrk

By The Associated Press
Steve Barber walked away from a no-hitter and stepped into a World Series job.

Barber, Baltimore's sore-armed southpaw, pitched five hitless innings Friday night in the American League championship 2-0 loss to California.

Manager Hank Bauer, carefully grooming Barber for a World Series assignment, removed him at the start of the sixth inning, and the Angels connected against reliever Frank Bertina with two out in the seventh, rookie Charlie Vinson's two-run double breaking the no-hit bid and scoreless tie. After Bertina walked Jose Cardenal and Bobby Knop, Vinson, brought up from Seattle of the Pacific Coast League last Monday, doubled to center for his first major league hit. The Angels managed only one more safety — a single by Jim Fregosi in the eighth — but the Orioles, who played without five regulars, had no better success against California left-hander Marcelino Lopez.

Lopez allowed only three hits in boosting his season record to 7-14. Barber, who has been plagued by arm trouble and was seeking his first victory since July 6, struck out six and walked three. Bertina, who has not won a game since May 8, suffered his sixth loss in seven decisions.

Lee Stange pitched a two-hitter as Boston nipped New York 2-1. Don Mincher's grand slam homer helped Minnesota bury Detroit 12-4. Kansas City blanked Cleveland 2-0 on John "Blue Moon" Odom's four-hitter and rookie Hank Allen's three-run homer led Washington past Chicago 5-4 in other AL games.

Tony Conigliaro's two-run homer in the first inning backed Stange, who yielded a run in the bottom of the first but allowed only one hit the rest of the way, retiring the last 19 Yankees in order. The loss, pitcher Mel Stottlemyre's 19th of the season, tumbled New York deeper into last place. A crowd of only 1,440 saw the Yankees lose their 48th home game, one more than they had ever dropped in one season at Yankee Stadium since the park opened in 1923.

Mincher hit his bases-loaded homer in the first inning against Denny McLain. Detroit's 19 game winner, who was pounded for eight runs in the three innings he worked. Tony Oliva hit his 24th homer. Ted Uhlaender stroked a run-scoring single and pitcher Jim Grant a two-run double in the Twins' four-run third.

The A's snapped a scoreless deadlock in the sixth against Cleveland's Gary Bell, scoring two runs on Bert Campaneris' triple, Rick Monday's single, a ground out and a two-base throwing error by first baseman Bill Davis.

Odom's second shutout victory over the Indians evened his record at 5-5. Allen, older brother of Philadelphia's Rich Allen, hit his first major league homer off loser Tommy John in the third inning after singles by Ed Brinkman and Ken Mervin. Pete Richert picked up his 14th victory but needed relief help after Tommie Agee homered for the White Sox in the eighth.

deadlock and pointed the Cougars to a victory in the first football game played on the synthetic turf of the Astrodome. Third-ranked Alabama, seeking its third straight national title, and 10th-ranked Baylor also see action tonight.

The Mighty Crimson Tide takes on Louisiana Tech in its opening game and should have little trouble. The spotlight will be on Alabama's untested quarterback, Kenny Stabler, who has been chosen to lead offensive attack this season.

Baylor also appears to have an easy assignment. The Bears meet Colorado, which was overwhelmed in its opener 24-3 by the Miami Hurricanes.

Baylor opened its season most impressively two weeks ago by crushing highly regarded Syracuse 35-12.

The seven other teams among the first 10 in the Associated Press poll this week each took the field this afternoon.

Top-ranked Michigan State faced Penn State; UCLA, No. 2, met Syracuse; Nebraska, No. 4, played Utah State; Arkansas, No. 5, went up against Tulsa; Purdue, No. 7, and Notre Dame, No. 8, clashed at South Bend, Ind.; and Michigan, No. 9, played California.

The Notre Dame - Purdue game was scheduled for national television coverage over ABC, starting at 2:15 p.m. EDT.

Blancas Takes Seattle Lead

EVERETT, Wash. (AP) — The talk is usually of torrid putters after a couple of rounds of tournament golf, but it's a red hot driver that's keeping young Homero Blancas ahead of the field in the $50,000 Greater Seattle-Everett Open Tourney as it moved into today's third round.

The free-swinging Blancas added a 65 to his first-round 68 to take the lead Friday with an 11-under-par 131 and stave off the challenge of Dean Refram's record-breaking 64.

Taking a tip from the successful opening-day players, the 26-year-old Refram from Boca Raton, Fla., drove with zons off six tees and kept the ball in play over the Everett Golf and Country Club's 6,123-yard tunnel of trees.

He bogeyed two holes when he was trapped on No. 1 and three-putted the seventh, but he backed nine birdies to crack by a stroke the course committee mark set a day earlier by Bob Goulay. His 64 was 10 strokes better than his previous round and left him tied with Goulay and four others at 138.

Jacky Cupit, who matched the Blancas 65, was in second place at 134. Don Bies took over third by adding a 66 to his Thursday 69 and Paul Bondeson was fourth at 136.

Patterson may be in line — far back, but in line — for another shot at the world heavyweight championship.

"Maybe Floyd can work his way back to a title shot," champion Cassius Clay said Friday after watching a television tape of Floyd's four-round knockout of Henry Cooper in London Tuesday.

"I'll give Patterson another shot if he keeps winning providing the fans want the fight," Clay said. "But that couldn't happen until around next May."

"I've got to meet Cleveland Williams at Houston in November and then, if everything is all right and I don't hurt my hands, I'll take on Ernie Terrell."

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP) — The defending champion Green Bay Packers battle the upstart Los Angeles Rams Sunday with the winner taking undisputed hold of first place in the National Football League's Western Conference.

The Packers have been highly impressive in whipping the Baltimore Colts and the Cleveland Browns in their first two starts. They did it with a careful blend of running, Bart Starr's passing and a tenacious defense.

But the thrusts of veteran running backs Jim Taylor and Paul Hornung could have difficulty penetrating the unbeaten Rams' stout front four of Lamar Lundy, Dave Jones, Roosevelt Grier and Merlin Olsen.

And Starr, who has completed almost 70 per cent of his passes in the young season, could be in for trouble finding targets in a rebuilt Los Angeles secondary. The Rams were notoriously poor against the pass in the past. But this year, they have held their first two opponents, the Atlanta Falcons and the Chicago Bears, to a mere 33 per cent completion ratio.

The Packers' defense, perhaps the league's toughest inside the 30-yard line, has had trouble before with Roman Gabriel, the Rams' quarterback. Gabriel led the Rams to a 21-10 victory when the teams last met.

Gabriel has completed 62.5 per cent of his passes. The Rams, who finished last season with a 4-10 record, won three of their last four 1965 games and have continued to progress under new coach George Allen.

Kiwanis Notes
4-H Club Week

There is a "positive attitude" among American youth represented in the boys and girls, young men and women who are members of 4-H Clubs, and this attitude will be emphasized in observance of National 4-H Club Week.

The Kiwanis Club of Escanaba will in recognition of the services of adult 4-H leaders in Delta County honor them at the club's meeting to be held Monday noon at Marco's.

About 55 or 60 adults will be guests of Kiwanis and there will be demonstrations and other features presented by 4-H members, said James Jacobs, Kiwanis committee chairman. Don Ness, club president, will conduct the meeting.

Arthur A. Vasold, Delta County 4-H agent, directed attention to the impressive and encouraging records of achievement of 4-H Club members in this county and throughout the nation and the world.

"About two and a quarter million 4-Hers live in the United States and Puerto Rico. Nearly 87,000 are from our own state of Michigan. These young people are directing their energy and talents toward building for tomorrow," he said.

"Each member is involved in one or more projects for which he, and he alone, is responsible. Although members receive counsel and guidance from volunteer adult leaders, the value of the finished project is up to the individual."

Through the supervision of the Cooperative Extension Service, a part of Michigan State University, young people learn responsibility, and are preparing themselves for the challenge of the future.

"National 4-H Week provides an opportunity for all of us to take a better look at the fine work of these young people, and to salute an outstanding informal educational program for its contribution to America—today and tomorrow," the 4-H youth agent said.

SURVIVAL TRAINING is taught to a class of about 30 Delta County residents in a Civil Defense class at the Delta County building by William Burrell Jr., Houghton. Family Survival Readiness
Goal Of CD Adult Program

"At least one member of every family who knows what to do in case of a natural or nuclear disaster."

That, according to William Burrell Jr., Houghton, state coordinator of adult education for the Civil Defense program, is the goal of a series of training sessions underway in the Upper Peninsula.

A 15-hour program in Escanaba to train instructors for the Civil Defense Adult Education program completed its three-day run in the County Building courtroom today. Mason E. Johnson, Civil Defense director, said he expected to qualify between 20 and 30 people as instructors.

Burrell, former freshman swimming coach at Indiana University and a professional baseball player in the old Brooklyn Dodgers' system, came to Michigan Tech University in June from five years in a similar position in Indiana.

"The program is administered by Michigan Tech University," Burrell said.

Hunting Action
To Start Oct. 1

Michigan's first big volley of fall hunting action for 1966 cuts loose with a bang and a twang on Oct. 1, the Conservation Department reports.

On that red-letter day for sportsmen, gun hunters open fire on small game and geese in the Upper and northern Lower Peninsulas, and archers steal afield with deer on their statewide target list. Meanwhile, bears offer big shooting stakes for both gunners and bowmen above the Straits.

For upwards of 175,000 sportsmen expected on the state's hunting front Oct. 1, the outlook for action is about the same as last year—generally good.

Conservation Department field reports indicate that ruffed grouse hunting in the northern Lower Peninsula should be at least as good as last year when about 224,000 of the birds were bagged in that region.

Plenty of Doodles

Failing to measure up to last fall are ruffed grouse populations in the Upper Peninsula which appear to have slipped the most in the west end of the region. In 1965, an estimated 210,000 pairs were taken above the Straits.

Woodcock hunters should chalk up another high kill, close to last season's take of nearly 83,000 timber doodles in the Upper and northern Lower Peninsulas. These hard-to-take targets seem as plentiful in the state's two northern regions as they were a year ago.

Sharp-tailed grouse, which count under the gun in only seven counties of the Upper Peninsula, are again scarce this fall. Under a change made this year, Drummond Island and Iron and Menominee counties have been added to the upper region's closed area for hunting these birds.

In other small game action opening Oct. 1 in Michigan's two northern zones, squirrels and rabbits will also draw the fire of hunters. Also starting on that day in parts of Menominee and Delta counties is a limited pheasant season which will make a brief run through Oct. 10.

Bear Opener

This fall's prospects shape up closely with 1965 for archery deer hunters, who harvested over 2,100 whitetails last season.

Deer populations, up in some areas and down in others, are about on the same overall level with last year's in the northern two-thirds of the state.

Come Oct. 1, firearm hunters and archers can take aim on bears in the Upper Peninsula, except in Keweenaw County. Latest word indicates there are as many bears in the Upper Peninsula as last year, and possibly more.

The opening day picture for goose hunters in northern Michigan depends strictly on the whims of the weather. Freezing temperatures are needed in Canada within the next few days to push the birds south.

Seney Closed

Fall goose flights through Michigan are expected to be on a par with those of 1965 when 18,000 of the big birds were bagged in the state.

Michigan hunters are reminded of new restrictions which ban goose shooting on Beaver Island and in a 165-square-mile area bordering Seney National Wildlife Refuge in Schoolcraft, Luce, and Mackinac counties.

The new closed area around the refuge is bounded by Highway M-28, Creighton Truck Trail, Highway M-28, Manistique Lake Road, Luce County Road 135, Luce County Road 98, and Old Seney Road.

Starting time for goose shooting on October 1 and duck hunting on October 10 is 10 a. m.

Bob Nelson Earns Top Suggestion Award For Change In Crane Cab Louve Design

Three major steps in the fabrication of P&H Truck Crane cab louvre panels were eliminated thanks to a suggestion by Bob Nelson, Assembly Inspector at Harnischfeger's Truck Crane Plant No. 1. He was one of seven employees who submitted winning suggestions for the month of July.

Bob's idea, which earned him the highest suggestion award for July... $207... eliminated extra steps in the cutting, shaping and welding of cab louvre panels. Formerly louvres, which are used to permit ventilation for the diesel engines mounted on P&H Truck Crane Models 650 and 660, had to be specially cut and shaped and, when mounted, they extended out beyond the cab outer wall approximately two inches.

Nelson's suggestion of mounting louvres flush with the cab outer wall eliminated the necessity of shaping special flanges to these panels.

July suggestion award winners in addition to Bob Nelson, including 2nd year winners, and their amounts are:

Harold J. Wellman	$10
James E. Cretens	$5
Albert Majestic	$5
Eva M. Porath	$22

GEORGE SANHUBER's official title is Welding Foreman at TC 1 but many of his working hours are spent as an on-the-job welding instructor there. George also teaches a special evening course in welding. An employee of P&H since 1935, George worked originally at Harnischfeger's Milwaukee Main Plant and, in 1951, was transferred to the Escanaba operations. He lives at 909 5th Avenue South, Escanaba.

Rod And Gun Club Championship Shoot Held Aug. 28th

Members of the P&H Rod and Gun Club here sighted down the barrels of their "shootin' iron" in a club shoot for championship honors on Sunday, August 28. Top award went to Gary Soderman, Welding Foreman TC 1, with a 25/25 "kill" ratio on the scoring clay traps.

Crowning Gary for top honors was Marvin Arnold, Structural Foreman TC 1, who ended his day on the firing line hitting 24 out of 25 traps.

In addition to the two top shooters for the day, there were championship shooting contests in four separate groups. Class "A" champion, with a 22/25 score, was Willard (Bill) Severinsen, Sheet Metal Press Brake Operator TC 1. Class "B" top honors went to Dayton (Bud) Dittich, Excavator Tester TC 1, who also tallied 22/25.

Emil Derouin, Welder Assembler TC 1, won the Class "C" championship with a 21/25 score and Michael Albert, Tools Grinder TC 1, completed his shoot with a 23/25 score to take the Class "D" championship.

25 Straight Men In Shooting
